To the Class of 1998,

Congratulations on your decision to attend one of the most challenging colleges in the nation. Having already been accepted as a member of the incoming fourth class, you have overcome the first of many obstacles. Just as you met the strenuous qualifications for entrance into The Citadel, you will also meet the challenges that The Citadel provides. Of the four years that you are here, the first year is the most difficult. There are many things that will be required of you as a fourth classman and you will have the opportunity to put your skills to the test.

The Guidon outlines the organization and operation of cadet life. This book will become a part of your uniform during the training portion of your knob year. You will be required to recite such works as the Cadet Prayer and The Citadel Alma Mater within a few hours of your arrival. Another valuable piece of advice would be to become familiar with the knob knowledge section of The Guidon. Your freshman year will serve as a foundation for the three years following and for the rest of your life. Always keep your eyes on your goal and never let anyone steal your dream.

Editor -in-Chief, The Guidon

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Congratulations on accepting the challenge of becoming a Citadel Man. As your journey here takes you from the Fourth Class year through graduation, you will be richly rewarded during your college experience.

Some 40 years ago, I reached the same decision you have made. At this stage of my life, I am constantly reminded that it was the single most important decision to make. I am convinced and confidently state that The Citadel experience will cause you to realize your potential greater than any other available college opportunity. The success of Citadel men is no mystery. It results from the benefits of a well-rounded education which develops cadets academically, morally, spiritually and physically; all within a framework of a demanding, strict, disciplined military environment. This experience builds character and self-confidence, instills integrity and honor. The Citadel refers to it as developing the "Whole Man," that you will become if you complete the challenge before you...a "Citadel Man."

Your journey here will not be easy. Nothing in life worth pursuing is. Everything we embody requires sacrifice and dedication. You may question, from time to time, your willingness to continue. Never relinquish your purpose for being here. When you have succeeded, you will know your sacrifices justified your efforts.

Woodrow Wilson in 1907 was quoted as follows:

"We live in an age disturbed, confused, bewildered, afraid of its own forces, in search not merely of its road but even its direction. There are many voices of counsel, but few voices of vision; there is much excitement and feverish activity, but little concert of thoughtful purpose. We are distressed by your own ungoverned, undirected energies and do many things, but nothing long. It is our duty to find ourselves."

Here at The Citadel, you will find yourself. I have a vested interest in your success. Together with you and your class, the Class of 1998, we will realize our greatest expectations for personal and professional growth and provide the voices of vision.

Claudius E. Watts III
Lieutenant General, USAF, Retired
President

Claudius E. Watts III
Lieutenant General, U.S. Air Force, Retired
President
of
The Citadel

Claudius E. "Bud" Watts III, born September 22, 1936, in Bennettsville, South Carolina, was raised in nearby Cheraw. He graduated from The Citadel in Charleston, South Carolina, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in political science and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force. While at The Citadel, Watts earned Gold Stars for academic excellence each semester during his four years as a cadet and served as a member of the Round Table and the Presidential Advisory Committee. He was a Distinguished Military Student, a selectee for the 1958 Edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, chairman of the Honor Committee, first sergeant of the Summerall Guards, and, in his senior year, commander of the Third Battalion with rank as cadet lieutenant colonel. Following graduation, Watts attended the London (England) School of Economics and Political Science as a Fulbright Scholar.

He completed pilot training in 1960 at Craig Air Force Base, Alabama, and was assigned to the 17th Air Transport Squadron, Charleston Air Force Base, Charleston, S.C. Watts left Charleston in 1965 to attend Stanford University Graduate School of Business earning a master's in business administration.

General Watts served in Southeast Asia from December 1967 until December 1968 with the 12th Special Operations Squadron in Vietnam. As a member of that unit, he flew 276 combat missions.

Returning to the United States, Watts served three years as a tactical air intelligence officer, then as chief of the Programs Division, Directorate of Plans and Programs, office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Intelligence, Headquarters Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base, Virginia. In 1972, he graduated from the Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and assigned to the Directorate of Doctrine and Concepts, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans and Operations, Headquarters, U.S. Air Force, Washington, D.C.

Transferred in 1976 to Andrews Air Force Base, Maryland, he reported for duty with the 89th Military Airlift Wing's 1402nd Military Airlift Squadron as chief of operations and training. He completed the National War College in 1978 and became assistant deputy commander for operations and later, commander of the 438th Military Airlift Group, McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey.

From July 1980 until March 1982, Watts served as commander of the 63rd Military Airlift Wing, Norton Air Force Base, California. He was assigned to Headquarters, Military Airlift Command, Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, first as Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans and then as Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans. During this time, he completed Harvard University's Program for Senior Managers in Government. He returned to Washington during September 1984 where he served as Director of Budget at Air Force Headquarters until mid-1985.

During June 1985, Watts was named Senior Military Assistant to the Deputy Secretary of Defense. November 1986, he assumed the position of Comptroller of the Air Force. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant general December 1, 1986, and remained Comptroller until his retirement from active duty September 1, 1989.

General Watts is a command pilot with more than 7,000 flying hours. His 44 awards and decorations include: the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, Air Force Distinguished Service Medal, two awards of the Legion of Merit, the Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters, eleven Air Medals, the Vietnamese Service Medal with two service stars, and the Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Cross with Palm.

General Watts was named the 17th president of The Citadel June 23, 1989, and reported for duty August 16, 1989.

In the Spring of 1992, Watts was named to the NCAA Council—the governing body of the National Collegiate Athletic Association—and he currently serves on the NCAA Ad Hoc Committee to Study Enforcement Issues. October 1992, he was appointed as the Council representative on the Academic Requirements Committee. He retains a relationship with Stanford University as a member of the Advisory Council to the Graduate School of Business, and he is a member of the Board of Visitors for the Air University, Montgomery, Alabama; the Defense Systems Management College, Ft. Belvoir, Virginia; and the audit committee for the National Headquarters of the Air Force Association.

Watts is former chairman of the Council of College Presidents in South Carolina (1991-92) and serves on the Board of Trustees of the Palmetto Partnership: The Foundations for Drug Abuse Prevention. He is chairman of the Marion Square Commission which manages and controls the historic site of The Citadel's original campus for the city of Charleston, and is former chairman of the Trident United Way College and Health Division. He is also a member of numerous other professional and civic organizations.

General Watts is married to the former Jane Sims of Marianna, Florida. They have two children, Claudius E. Watts IV, Citadel Class of 1983 and Patti W. Heck. Watts' late father, Elmer "Tug" Watts Jr. of Cheraw, South Carolina, was graduated from The Citadel in 1932.

VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS AND DEAN OF THE COLLEGE'S MESSAGE

As you enter The Citadel this August, you will face challenges and opportunities which, if seized, will profoundly affect your intellectual growth and maturity. The lifestyle at The Citadel is purposefully not easy. The demands on you will be many, and contrary to what you will think as a fourth classman, they will increase over your four years at The Citadel. Our philosophy of education is that self-exploration, self-discovery, and leadership training best occur within a structured, disciplined environment.

While there will be many interests (academic, athletic, military, and social) competing for your attention, you must keep in mind your purpose in attending The Citadel: to receive a first-class education. Thus your first priority should always be clear, and in order to pursue that goal and to take advantage of all that The Citadel offers, you must learn to manage your time wisely and efficiently. If you find yourself slipping, do not hesitate to seek assistance. Your professors, your faculty advisor, and those in your cadet chain-of-command all are willing and eager to help. They cannot, however, read your mind; you must take the initiative to seek aid.

You have elected to take that less traveled and more difficult road so eloquently described by the noted poet, Robert Frost, and, like him, you will discover it makes all the difference. I congratulate you!

R. Clifton Poole
Brigadier General
Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the College

COMMANDANT'S MESSAGE

Congratulations on your decision to attend The Citadel. This decision carries with it an understanding that The Citadel is unique. The Citadel will challenge each of you mentally, physically and emotionally so that each of you will grow stronger and understand yourself completely. Leadership excellence is based on this understanding. The four dimensions of a cadet's character development include intellectual, physical, spiritual and military. The Citadel "whole man" philosophy serves as the objective for the balanced development of each cadet.

The military environment at The Citadel is the foundation for developing esprit de corps and self discipline. The standards for cadet behavior are clearly outlined in the Blue Book (cadet regulations), The Guidon, and the Honor Manual. These documents must be thoroughly understood by every fourth classman.

The fourth class year is the most demanding and rewarding year at The Citadel. Your decision to attend The Citadel indicated that you are a cut above the average high school graduate. You must now commit yourself to not only completing the fourth class year, but excelling at each of the dimensions of the "whole man". I look forward to having the opportunity to meet you and assist you in the process of developing into a Citadel Man.

Joseph W. Trez
Colonel USA
PMS/Commandant of Cadets

"I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference."

THE MISSION OF THE CITADEL

The primary mission of The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, is to educate male undergraduates as members of the South Carolina Corps of Cadets and to prepare them for post-graduate positions of leadership through academic programs of recognized excellence supported by the best features of a disciplined military environment. It is also the mission of The Citadel to serve the citizens of the Low Country and the state of South Carolina through its Graduate and Professional College, and a broad range of non-instructional activities and services.

The Citadel provides a quality education through extensive grounding in liberal arts and sciences in a military college atmosphere which challenges students, faculty, and staff to achieve excellence. The College will continue to emphasize undergraduate education through a wide range of baccalaureate degree programs in the humanities, social and natural sciences, and several professional fields. It promotes an environment which nourishes innovative teaching, inspires students to learn, stimulates research and inquiry, and strengthens intellectual and personal relationships between students and teachers. The Citadel produces graduates who (a) have insight into the fundamental issues, ideas, and values of importance to a society; (b) can apply such insights toward understanding current issues and problems in a regional, national, and global context; (c) have understanding of the methodological skills needed to gather and analyze information; (d) possess both critical and creative thinking abilities; (e) have effective communication skills; (f) can apply abstract concepts to concrete situations; (g) can make decisions based on a clear, well developed value structure; and (h) demonstrate an intellectual curiosity and discipline consistent with an embrace of lifelong learning.

The Citadel links students, faculty, and staff together in a special community. It joins military and academic spheres into a common realm, at the same time striving to maintain between the two a balance to nourish and enrich the personal, professional, and educational growth of each individual. This sense of community is fostered further by engaging faculty, staff, alumni, and friends in advancing the interests of The College and by observing high standards of social responsibility, including equal employment opportunity and affirmative action.

The Citadel supports equality of opportunity and freedom of choice within a diverse system of higher education through which each student can reach his or her educational objectives. In accomplishing its mission, The Citadel is guided by the following goals:

- a. to maintain and strengthen the unique military framework and environment of the college in its service to state and nation;
- b. to meet the needs of the South Carolina Low Country in terms of institution, public service, and research;

- c. to enhance the intellectual atmosphere and learning environment for students, faculty, and staff;
- d. to provide the support, environment, and resources for the economic, intellectual, and professional advancement of the faculty and staff;
- e. to establish institutional mechanisms to meet requirements of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education for long-range strategic planning and assessment;
- f. to achieve excellence in all academic, extra-curricular, and intercollegiate programs.

THE PURPOSE OF THE CADET SYSTEM

The purpose of the cadet system at The Citadel is to develop and graduate the "whole man."

The Citadel System is the completeness with which it matures, refines, trains and schools the totality of a young man's character. This finely balanced process is called the "whole man" concept. During four years, cadets will be developed academically, physically, militarily, and spiritually.

The Alma Mater

Oh Citadel we sing thy fame
For all the world to hear,
And in the paths our fathers showed us
Follow without fear.
Peace and Honor, God and Country,
We will fight for thee.
Oh Citadel, we praise thee now
And in the Eternity.

Oh Citadel, though strife surrounds us,
We will ever be
Full conscious of the benefits
That we derive from thee.
Stand forever, yielding never
To the tyrant's Hell
We'll never cease our struggles for Our mighty Citadel.

(Cadet A. Preston Price, '43)

The Cadet Prayer

Almighty God, the source of light and strength, we implore Thy blessing on this our beloved institution, that it may continue true to its high purposes.

Guide and strengthen those upon whom rests the authority of government; enlighten with wisdom those who teach and those who learn; and grant to all of us that through sound learning and firm leadership, we may prove ourselves worthy citizens of our country, devoted to truth, given to unselfish service, loyal to every obligation of life and above all to Thee.

Preserve us faithful to the ideals of The Citadel, sincere in fellowship, unswerving in duty, finding joy in purity, and confidence through a steadfast faith.

Grant to each one of us, in his own life, an humble heart, a steadfast purpose, and a joyful hope, with a readiness to endure hardship and suffer if need be, that truth may prevail among us and that Thy will may be done on earth. *Through Jesus Christ, Our Lord. Amen.

First Honor Graduate, Class of 1892)

The Citadel Code

To revere God, love my country, and be loyal to The Citadel. To be faithful, honest, and sincere in every act and purpose and to know that honorable failure is better than success by unfairness or cheating.

To perform every duty with fidelity and conscientiousness and to make duty my watchword.

To obey all orders and regulations of The Citadel and of proper authority.

To refrain from intoxicants, narcotics, licentiousness, profanity, vulgarity, disorder, and anything that might subject me to reproach or censure within or without the college.

To be diligent in my academic studies and in my military training.

To do nothing inconsistent with my status as a cadet and gentleman.

To take pride in my uniform and in the noble traditions of the college and never do anything that would bring discredit to them.

To be courteous and gentlemanly in my deportment, bearing, and speech, and to exhibit good manners on all occasions.

To cultivate dignity, poise, affability, and a quiet and firm demeanor.

To make friends with refined, cultivated, and intellectual people.

To improve my mind by reading and participation in intellectual and cultural activities.

To keep my body healthy and strong by physical exercise and participation in many sports.

To be worthy of the sacrifices of my parents, the generosity of the state, and the efforts of all who teach and all who administer the college in order that I might receive an education and to recognize my obligation to them.

To make the college better by reason of my being a cadet.

To resolve to carry its standards into my future career and to place right above gain and a reputation for integrity above power.

To remember always that the honor of being a "Citadel man" imposes upon me a corresponding obligation to live up to this code.

The foregoing code is earnestly commended to all cadets as an interpretation of the ideals of The Citadel.

Written by Gen. Charles P. Summerall,
President, 1931-1953

Honor

The development of character and integrity in the members of the Corps of Cadets is a basic objective of The Citadel. The Cadet Honor Code and System are recognized as the means through which this objective is attained. The Honor Manual explains the details of the Honor System. Each cadet is obligated to abide by The Honor Code.

THE HONOR SYSTEM OF THE CORPS OF CADETS

In a world of changing and declining moral values, one trait distinguishes men one from the other more clearly than race, creed, or color—honor. Today, more than at any other time in history, the destiny of the world rests on the high hope we take from the honorable men among us.

Not completely definable and often intangible, honor feeds the spirit and soul of him who takes it as his way of life. The man who speaks no untruth and does not steal the work of another's mind or hand gives and receives benefit beyond measure.

Honor cannot be enforced by threat or punishment. It must be freely embraced and treasured, not for the material benefits which it inevitably brings but for the consequent deep inner peace.

The Citadel has one of the strongest and most stringent honor systems in the United States. At many other institutions, honor systems have not worked. Honor is here at The Citadel. Those activities of your past life that were less than honorable must be forgotten. Habits and actions that would in any way compromise the honor of The Citadel and your personal honor must be remedied prior to entering the gates of The Citadel. Honor must be accepted by all. Those individuals who remain indifferent to the Honor System will be asked to resign from The Citadel. The penalty for an honor violation is harsh, but the reasoning behind the honor code is sound. Honor cannot be measured in degrees. One is an honorable man or he is not. In our society today, honor has become an even more treasured asset as we witness politicians and other respected leaders participating in less than honorable activities. Valuable is the man who remains stern and strong with honor as his guide; respect and self-fulfillment will be his rewards. The concept of honor is meant to be carried away with The Citadel man after graduation. Situations arise when truthful statements and honorable actions may be depended on by those individuals whose very lives may be at stake. Seek honor and make it your creed. Your alma mater will give you many rewards if you measure up to her stern standards-a fine education, a healthy body, and lifelong friends. But her greatest reward is reserved for those among you for whom The Citadel and honor shall be synonymous.

THE HONOR CODE

The Honor Code is a code of, by, and for the Corps of Cadets. It states that a cadet does not lie, cheat, or steal, nor tolerate those who do. The purpose of The Honor System is to maintain honor and integrity within the Corps. There are only four violations of the Honor Code:

I. Lying: Making a false statement. An official statement is defined as a statement, written or oral, made to a commissioned officer of the staff or faculty of the college, a member of the guard, or any cadet required in turn to use the statement as a basis for an official report in any form.

II. Cheating: Receiving or giving aid on a test or examination. Plagiarism is also a violation of the Honor Code.

III. Stealing: Taking without authority personal, government, or college property.

IV. Failure to Report a Violation of the Code. Failure to report a case of lying, cheating, or stealing as defined above to the Honor Committee authorities.

THE HONOR COMMITTEE

An Honor Committee of first classmen is elected by the Corps of Cadets—two from each company and one from each battalion. All reports of violations of the Honor Code, investigations thereof, and the proceedings of any trials held will be kept confidential by members of the Honor Committee. The Honor Committee shall have the following duties:

1. To sit as members of the Honor Court and to try all cases which involve violations of the Honor Code.

2. To prepare and keep current an "honor manual" summarizing the values and regulations governing its activities.

3. To keep the Corps informed of new interpretations of the code, to explain such interpretations, and by timely and continuing announcements to insure that all have a thorough understanding of the Honor System.

4. To re-orient and refresh the three upper classes on the Honor System at the beginning of each academic year.

5. To orient and instruct the new fourth class in the principles, purposes, and practices of the Honor System.

THE HONOR COURT

1. The Honor Court: For the trial of such cases as are authorized to come before it, the honor committee, except such members as may be disqualified, shall function as an honor court. The honor court shall be the sole and final agency for determining whether a cadet has violated the honor code. Decisions may not be appealed to the honor court.

2. Composition of the Honor Court for Trial Purposes: For the trial of such cases as may be brought before it, the honor court shall consist of 10 members drawn from the honor committee or a substitute classmate. In case of leniency, the chairman will abstain to avoid the possibility of tie.

3. Members Disqualified: The accuser, the accused, investigating officers, and any members of the court challenged for cause by the accused and sustained by members of the court in the case to be tried are disqualified from sitting on the court.

For further information see Honor Manual p. 7.

THE HISTORY OF THE CITADEL

The very name "The Citadel" evokes visions of military might and power, and indeed even before the formal opening of the Military Academy of South Carolina, The Citadel represented a force for protection and strength. In December 1822 the legislature of the State of South Carolina passed an act to establish a protective force in Charleston to occupy a building previously used for tobacco inspection.

In 1833, a similar law was passed which established "The Arsenal" in Columbia for a similar purpose.

In November 1842 Governor J. P. Richardson presented a convincing argument for combining the military duties of the guards in The Arsenal and The Citadel with a system of education for the poor but deserving boys of the state. On December 20, 1842 the legislature passed a law establishing a Board of Visitors for the two schools and on March 20, 1843 the two schools began operation. General James Jones was the first chairman of the Board of Visitors and to him must go much of the credit for channeling The Citadel and Arsenal achievements into the path they were to follow. He decided to provide The Citadel and The Arsenal students with a military education which would provide them with the training needed in time of conflict, but which would also provide knowledge in the practical arts and sciences for service as citizens in time of peace.

The Arsenal became a subsidiary school which took only first-year students and The Citadel continued as a four-year college.

The academic year began on New Year's Day, and commencement exercises were held in late November of each year. The first commencement was in 1846 at which time six men graduated, and Charles C. Tew became the "first honor graduate". The graduation was held in the midst of the excitement just prior to the beginning of the Mexican War. The "Palmetto Regiment," a volunteer regiment of South Carolina troops, arrived on campus and was promptly trained for battle by Citadel Cadets. Later, these cadet-trained soldiers distinguished themselves in the campaigns south of the Rio Grande. The Palmetto Regiment's flag, which was first introduced at The Citadel, was the first to fly over Mexico City.

During the antebellum period, several expansion measures to improve cadet barracks were incorporated. Yellow fever menaced the Corps, on five separate occasions - 1843, 1849, 1852, 1854, and 1856. Discipline and academic requirements were strict during this period to ensure an elite product for the young institution. Of the 550 boys who attended The Citadel and The Arsenal during the first decade, 22 percent failed and 20 percent were dismissed for misconduct. But The Citadel continued to grow in size and influence until 1865.

It was Citadel cadets who manned the cannon which fired the first shot of the War Between the States.

On January 9, 1861, a battery of four guns manned by Citadel cadets under the command of Major P. F. Stevens opened fire upon the supply ship "Star of the West," preventing it from supplying Fort Sumter. Cadet G. E. Haynesworth pulled the lanyard on the first gun, and Cadet S. B. Pickens fired the second shot. After taking heavy fire, the ship turned about and put out to sea.

This was the first of eight occasions that The Citadel was called upon to defend Charleston or South Carolina. The pike on the regimental colors carries the following battle streamers:

1. Star of the West, January 9, 1861
2. Wappoo Cut, November 1861
3. James Island, June 1862
4. Charleston and Vicinity, July to October 1863
5. James Island, June 1864
6. Tulifinny, December 1864
7. James Island, December 1864 to February, 1865
8. Williamston, May 1, 1865
9. Confederate States Army

The Citadel fought in eight engagements and The Arsenal in four, but they fought together in only one, the Battle of Tulifinny, in which they joined forces to delay the battle-hardened troops of Sherman 10 days while the city of Savannah was evacuated.

Several occasions of actual fighting with the enemy and prolonged picket duty in defense of Charleston took a toll within the Corps. Cadet J. B. Paterson was mortally wounded on December 7, 1864, at the Battle of Tulifinny, and Cadets R. F. Nichols, J. Culbreath, C. O. Buck, T. A. Johnson, and R. Nobel died from diseases induced by the exposure and hardship of service.

In addition to the organized service by the Cadet Corps, cadets from The Citadel and The Arsenal formed a "Cadet Company" which joined Wade Hampton and received several citations for gallantry during its four years of service.

Of the 224 alumni living at the time of the Civil War, 193 wore the Confederate gray, all but 20 as commissioned officers and four as generals. Sixty-seven were killed in battle.

Then followed 17 years of military occupation when The Citadel served as occupation headquarters for Union troops. During this period, the college suffered burning and looting so that only a shell remained when it was returned to South Carolina in 1882. During Sherman's capture of Columbia, The Arsenal had been entirely destroyed by fire. When The Citadel reopened on October 2, 1882, it was a much different institution from the one begun in 1842.

No longer was it necessary to guard munitions, and there no longer were military duties to perform. The first superintendent under the new regime, Col. J. P. Thomas, was determined to reinstate the same military system which had made The Citadel distinctive. He brought back the traditional discipline into the codes and structure of cadet life. This tradition was vividly exemplified four years later when Cadet James Thomas Coleman won the title of "Best Drilled Cadet in the United States" in a competition in New Orleans. Beginning in 1886, an annual competition for the best-drilled cadet was instituted which was again won by Cadet Coleman in 1893. The Star of the West Medal was first awarded to the "best drilled cadet" and was won by Cadet A. E. Legare.

The first Commandant of Cadets was appointed in 1890. He was Lt. John A. Tower, Professor of Military Science and Tactics. Up until this time the preservation of interior discipline had been the responsibility of the Superintendent; after this time it became the responsibility of the Commandant.

Although The Citadel did not fight as a unit in the War with Spain in 1898, it did give its full support to the U. S. Government. Twenty-two Citadel men fought in the war.

Changing educational patterns forced a change in the name of The Citadel, The Military Academy of South Carolina. Increasingly, the term academy had come to indicate a secondary school instead of a college, and graduates were beginning to have problems with graduate school admission. In 1910, the state legislature changed the legal name to "The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina," and changed the title of the presiding officer from superintendent to president.

During World War I, Citadel men were in the first contingents of American troops that went overseas to fight with English and French divisions. Some had joined the allies before the United States became involved in the conflict. In 1915, while serving with British artillery in Flanders, Lt. Montague Nichols fell in battle. After the United States had entered the war, the first Citadel man to give his life was Lt. John H. David, Class of 1914, who died March 1, 1918. In total, the number of Citadel graduates in service during World War I was 316.

The most remarkable event in the history of the college is the building of the Greater Citadel, the accomplishment, in the space of a dozen years, of an expansion and growth undreamed of by most of its friends. The people of Charleston had long realized the value of The Citadel, and some citizens had realized its potential with regard to its development into a large, strong institution. As a result, in 1918 the City of Charleston offered the state a tract of land adjacent to the Ashley River for the erection of a Greater Citadel.

Work was formally begun on the Greater Citadel with a dedication ceremony on November 25, 1920. By the spring of 1922, one great barracks building for the accommodation of 450 cadets, the wings of the college building for the instruction (the main building being left for the future), and the auxiliary buildings—mess hall, power house, shops, and laundry were completed. A much-needed hospital was soon added in 1923.

And thus, after 80 years of occupation of the historic building on The Citadel Green, the institution prepared to move to its present site. The last commencement exercises of the old Citadel were held June 13, 1922, at the Hibernian Hall in Charleston. This graduating class with 54 members, was the largest up to that point in the history of the school.

From the opening of the Greater Citadel until the present, the prestige of the college has steadily grown. The Corps of Cadets, the alumni, the faculty, and the Board of Visitors have striven earnestly to raise the standards of the institution by making entrance requirements more difficult and by improving the curriculum. The Citadel was elected to membership in the Southern Association of Colleges on December 5, 1924.

As the enrollment steadily increased, the construction of another barracks became imperative. In 1925, Mr. Andrew B. Murray of Charleston contributed $150,000 for the much needed building. The state appropriated a like amount, and the construction of Murray Barracks was begun immediately. Within the next three years the enrollment almost doubled. The increase in the size of the Corps of Cadets necessitated the extension and completion of Bond Hall, the mess hall, the construction of the Armory, and two more barracks. It was also necessary to expand the physical plant of the school. As the physical features of The Citadel expanded, so did its intellectual horizons. In 1929 the Board of Visitors was granted the privilege of conferring honorary degrees.

In World War II, Citadel men were again performing military duties for their country. Of approximately 4,000 undergraduates who attended The Citadel during the war years, over 99 percent served in the armed services. This fact gives The Citadel the honor of having the largest percentage of its students to enter the service, with the exception of The National Military Academy at West Point. Of the 2,976 living graduates in 1946, 2,927 served their country.

The list of decorations received by Citadel men in World War II is far too long to be included here. However, the following decorations have been awarded to a multitude of alumni: Distinguished Service Medal, Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross, Purple Heart, Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Stars and Clusters, and several foreign decorations, including the French Legion of Honor. Perhaps the most decorated alumnus of World War II was Captain Roland Wooten of the United States Army Air Corps.

Probably the most famous officer was Major Thomas D. Howie, "The Major of St. Lo". One day before that French city was taken, he was killed giving his company commanders final instructions on the conduct of battle. As he left the headquarters, he told his company commanders and commanding officer that he would, "See you in St. Lo." Shortly afterwards, he was killed by a mortar shell while leading his troops. So gallant were his actions that his division commander paid him the highest military honor by having his body brought into the city first and by parading the whole battalion for him.

A Citadel man, Captain Jack R. Millar, Class of 1939, flew the invasion plans from General Eisenhower to President Roosevelt. Lieutenant Robert L. Bedle was the first to die in action, and before the end of the war, 279 Citadel men gave their lives.

During the fighting in Korea, Citadel men again served and died for their country with four giving their lives. In the war in Vietnam, sixty-five Citadel men made the supreme sacrifice. In 1984, Major Sam Byrd, (Readers' Digest; "The Courage of Sam Byrd") died seventeen years after the Vietnam War, as a result of injuries sustained during the war. In our country's other military actions two graduates gave their lives. In 1977 Michael F. Ritz fell in Granada and in 1981 Charles J. Schnorf fell in Lebanon. Many cadets and faculty served with pride in the recent Persian Gulf war. Many cadets served with pride when their country called. On 26 February 1991, Captain Mario J. Fajardo '84, was killed while disarming Iraqi mines, making the supreme sacrifice.

Several presidents of The Citadel have been outstanding military leaders who gave the college further prestige and renown.

General Charles P. Summerall, United States Army, served as president of The Citadel from 1931-1953. An 1892 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, he achieved early fame during the Boxer Rebellion in the assault of Peking in 1900 taking his field guns through heavy fire to positions that allowed him to blast open the gates of the city. He later commanded the Forty-Second Division, the First Division and V Corps. He was a member of the Allied Mission of Generals at Fiume and served with the Peace Commission in Paris. He was the first Southerner to wear the four stars of a general in the U.S. Army and capped his military career with service as Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army. General Summerall came to The Citadel in 1931 and for the next twenty-two years administered the affairs of the college. During his tenure, The Citadel campus was greatly expanded with such structures as LeTellier Hall, the Summerall Chapel and Capers Hall being built.

In 1954, General Mark W. Clark, United States Army, became president of The Citadel after a career seldom equaled for brilliance in the annals of the U.S. Army. He served as Deputy Commander of the North African Invasion Force; in 1943 he was designated Commanding General of the Fifth (U.S.) Army in its conquest of Italy. After World War II, he served as U.S. High Commissioner for Austria and as Commander-in-Chief, United Nations Command in Korea. He also served as Military Governor of Japan and the Ryuku Islands. During his administration, Mark Clark Hall, the Library and Museum, the Beach Club, and Jenkins Hall were built, and many other improvements were made on the campus. Also during his administration, The Citadel purchased Johnson Hagood Stadium. Upon his retirement in 1964 until his death, General Clark served as President Emeritus. His gravesite and monument are located between the chapel and Mark Clark Hall.

On July 1, 1965. General Hugh P. Harris, United States Army, assumed the presidency of The Citadel. General Harris served 34 years in the U. S. Army, during 11 of those years holding the rank of general. The positions he held included Vice Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, in Washington; the Commanding General, Continental Army Command, Ft. Monroe, Va. His plans for the continued growth of the college are evidenced in Byrd Hall and Duckett Hall, both begun during General Harris' presidency.

Major General James W. Duckett, S.C. Unorganized Militia, succeeded General Harris in 1970. A 1932 honor graduate, General Duckett joined The Citadel Chemistry Department in 1934, after receiving his M.S. Degree from The University of Georgia and his Ph.D. Degree from The University of North Carolina. During his tenure at The Citadel, General Duckett served as Dean of Admissions, Administrative Dean, the First Vice President, and from 1970-1974 he served as President.

In August 1974, Lieutenant General George M. Seignious II, United States Army, followed General Duckett as president of The Citadel. After graduation from The Citadel in 1942, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the infantry and served in Europe in World War II. After a distinguished military career, which included being military advisor at the Paris Peace talks on Vietnam, General Seignious returned to his alma mater as President. In 1979, President Carter appointed him to head the Arms Control Disarmament Agency, and Major General Wallace Anderson, Vice President for Academic Affairs, stepped in as Acting President.

In September 1979, The Citadel selected Vice Admiral James B. Stockdale, United States Navy, as its fifteenth president. Admiral Stockdale was recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor for his actions while a prisoner of the North Vietnamese. At the time of his retirement from the Navy, he was its most decorated officer. As president, Admiral Stockdale made changes in several facets of cadet life. He served until August 1980.

Major General James A. Grimsley, Jr. United States Army, was named interim president of The Citadel in August, 1980, and then selected as the 16th president of the college by a unanimous vote of the Board of Visitors in December of that year. General Grimsley, a 1942 Citadel graduate, returned to his alma mater after an illustrious Army career. Since his retirement in 1989, he serves as President Emeritus.

Lieutenant General Claudius E. Watts III, United States Air Force, was selected as the 17th president of The Citadel in June 1989. He retired as the Comptroller, USAF, after a distinguished career as a commander, combat aviator and senior staff officer. General Watts, a member of The Citadel Class of 1958, returned to his alma mater in August 1989.

CUSTOMS AND TRADITIONS

The customs of the Corps are the outward manifestation of its inherent character. The strict observance of these customs has for its objective the perpetuation of the Corps' pride, spirit, and morale.

THE CAP DEVICE

The cap device changed several times between 1842 and 1910, but since the latter date, except from 1933 to 1937, it has remained the same as it appears on Citadel caps today.

Today the cap device consists of the palmetto tree which appears on the South Carolina state flag and two shields taken from the Seal of the State of South Carolina. The inscription, "The Citadel," is located between the top of the shields and the lower branches of the palmetto. At the bottom of the cap device is the date 1842, the year The Citadel was founded.

In the shield on the right of the large palmetto are a small palmetto tree, two small shields, one on each side of the tree and the date 1776. At the top of the exergue are the words "South Carolina" and at the bottom of the same, the words "Animis Opibusque Parati," meaning "Prepared in mind and resources."

The shield on the left side of the large palmetto has the figure of a woman walking on the seashore over swords and daggers. In her right hand she holds a laurel branch, and she is looking toward the sun just rising above the sea. The words, "Dum Spiro Spero," meaning "While I Breathe I Hope," are inscribed at the summit of the shield and "Spes," meaning "Hope," is inscribed within the field below the figure.

THE CITADEL RING

The Citadel ring signifies a host of accomplishments, for not only does it symbolize a partial history of the State of South Carolina and The Citadel, but also it relates the ideals for which the college was founded. Almost every feature of the ring is symbolic of a goal or an attainment of past members of the South Carolina Corps of Cadets.

The oval crest of the ring is dominated by a reproduction of the palmetto tree. Primarily it symbolizes the state tree of South Carolina. Also, it represents the "Palmetto Regiment," a military body trained by Citadel cadets and sent from South Carolina to fight in the Mexican War. Third, it represents a fort on Sullivan's Island built from palmetto logs, which successfully resisted many British men-of-war during the Revolutionary War. The two oval shields at the base of the palmetto tree are miniature replicas of the state shield. The shield inscription is accurate and readable with a low-power glass.

On the right shank of the ring The Star commemorates the shelling of the Union supply steamer, "The Star of the West," and memorializes all those Citadel men who have died in defense of their country. The United States and South Carolina colors depict the unity and coordination between South Carolina and the federal government. To serve the dual purpose of representing the artillery, one of the two original branches of military instruction given during the early years of The Citadel, and as a connecting link between the old Citadel of Marion Square and the Greater Citadel of today, are the cannon balls on the bottom of this shank. In front of the barracks at Marion Square was a pile of Civil War cannon balls. When the college moved to its present location, they remained at The Old Citadel. Adopted as a part of The Citadel ring, they bind the new college with the spirit and tradition of the old.

On the left shank of the ring a rifle, saber, wreath, and a 30-caliber bullet can be seen at a glance. Upon closer observation, an oak leaf is noted in the background of the muzzle of the rifle, and by the tip of the sword is a spray of laurel. Although difficult to discern, the oak leaf is one of the most powerful motifs of the ring; it stands for the oak tree and its characteristic attributes of strength and endurance. Of equal importance in a world torn by perpetual military conflict is the concept of victory blessed by peace, represented by the laurel and the wreath respectively. By means of most of these symbols, some of the ideals and concepts upon which The Citadel was founded and has endured are presented artistically.

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mostly illegible due to fading and bleed-through, but appears to be organized into several paragraphs or sections. Some words like "The" and "and" are faintly visible.

The rifle and the 30-caliber bullet symbolize the infantry, the other original department of military science at the college. Since duty and responsibility have their reward at The Citadel, that of being appointed a cadet officer in the first-class year, these ideals, too, are embodied in the ring by the sword, the symbol of the cadet officer.

An interesting tradition which has evolved in connection with the ring is the different manner in which it is worn by cadets as distinguished from alumni. Since cadets are eligible to wear rings upon becoming academic firstclassmen, they wear them with the class numerals facing up to the wearers. After graduation exercises, however, the rings are turned about.

The Citadel ring is a standard ring; it was standardized in 1940 by the Ring Committee with the approval of the Classes of 1940, 1941, and 1942. Standardization brings two distinct advantages. First, it makes The Citadel ring easy to recognize, since all graduating classes wear the same type of ring, and secondly, it denotes not a member of a certain class, but The Citadel man.

THE MINIATURE RING

The Citadel miniature is of great significance. It is purchased by the cadet at the beginning of his first-class year or at any later date if so desired. It is smaller than the class ring, but is identical in all other respects. Many cadets at the annual Ring Hop present this miniature to someone very special.

THE REGIMENTAL COLORS

On April 14, 1939, the late Senator Burnet R. Maybank, then Governor of South Carolina, attached battle streamers to the pike of the regimental colors signifying that the Corps of Cadets had participated as a unit in several engagements during the War Between the States. The streamers, one for each engagement, include "Star of the West" January 9, 1861, "Wappoo Cut," November 1861, "James Island," June 1862, "Charleston and Vicinity," July to October 1863, "James Island," June 1864, "Tulifinny," December 1864, "James Island," December 1864 to February 1865, "Williamston," May 1, 1865, and a gray streamer bearing the white inscription, "Confederate States Army." These colors, accompanied by the national colors, are carried to parades and reviews by a color guard made up of two color sergeants and two color corporals.

THE UNIFORM

The Citadel uniform is symbolic of an institution which for more than 150 years has maintained an enviable standing in the military and scholastic circles of the nation. The fourthclassman will immediately be taught that it is a privilege to wear the uniform, and he will be instructed by the training cadre in the proper wearing of it.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE BRASS BUTTONS

Over a period of more than 150 years, a comradeship has ripened between the Washington Light Infantry and the Corps of Cadets of The Citadel, and, as a result, the brass buttons worn on The Citadel hats, full dress uniform blouses, and overcoats are exact replicas of those worn on the W.L.I. dress uniform. To appreciate this comradeship one must know the important part played by the W.L.I. in the history of The Citadel. The first significant event occurred in 1843, when members of the W.L.I., serving as the guard of the old Citadel, were relieved by the new guard composed of Citadel cadets. On April 20, 1844, the W.L.I. assisted in the burial services of The Citadel's first superintendent, Captain W. F. Graham. At the celebration of the W.L.I. February 22, 1957, the Corps was honored by being presented with a set of colors. It is interesting to note that the W.L.I., upon invitation, participated in the 1875 celebration of the Battle of Bunker Hill, thus becoming the first Confederate unit to participate in a federal celebration. The following year, the unit took part in the centennial celebration of American Independence at Philadelphia. Members of the W.L.I. were instrumental in formulating the plans for the reopening of The Citadel after the U.S. military occupation, 1865-1882. On February 22, 1879, they dedicated their annual celebration of Washington's Birthday to The Citadel, and on each February 22nd, since, cadet officers have been W.L.I. dinner guests.

More recently, members of the W.L.I. were present at both the laying of the cornerstone and the dedication of Summerall Chapel. They participated in The Citadel centennial anniversary in 1943 and during the sesquicentennial's Tattoo in 1993, in which both the Corps and the members of the W.L.I. reenacted the historic 1843 changing of the guard. A marble tablet in Bond Hall commemorating a century of affiliation was erected by the W.L.I.

"Throughout the century now closing, we have been closely identified with the Battalion of Citadel Cadets. In peace and in war they have been devoted friends, trusted allies. Only gracious memories are recalled for all the years that are past, and only joyous hopes spring up for the future which opens today. In the bonds of a renewing and continuing friendship, Esto Perpetuo."

THE MILITARY COLLEGE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

THE CAMPUS

MAIN CAMPUS BUILDINGS

BOND HALL, named for Colonel O. J. Bond, ninth president of The Citadel, is the main academic and administrative building. It was completed in its present form in 1939. The two wings of Bond Hall were finished in 1922 when the Greater Citadel was built, and since that time numerous additions have completed the building. This building has just undergone a two year renovation and was reopened during the summer of 1993.

BYRD HALL, the chemistry-geology building, is named for Colonel R. M. Byrd, Citadel 1923, who served as head of the Chemistry Department from 1945 to 1956 and as academic dean from 1956 to 1966. It houses classrooms, offices, laboratories, service areas for professors, and a library. It also contains a 175-seat auditorium named in honor of Colonel Samuel A. Wideman, Citadel 1929, who was head of the Chemistry Department from 1956 to 1968.

CAPERS HALL is named in honor of Brigadier General Ellison Capers, C.S.A, Citadel 1857, and first president of Sewanee University. It is also named for Major F. W. Capers, superintendent of The Citadel, 1852-1859. It houses classrooms, offices and other areas for English, Mathematics, History, Modern Languages, Political Science, Education, and Psychology Departments. The Rosemary Breckinridge Galloway Writing Center is housed on the first floor of Capers Hall. The south wing of Capers Hall was dedicated to the memory of Mr. Rodney Williams at the request of his wife.

THE DANIEL LIBRARY was constructed in 1960 and is named in honor of the late Charles E. Daniel, Citadel 1918, and the late R. Hugh Daniel, Citadel 1929; distinguished Citadel men who were lifelong benefactors of the college. The main library collection contains more than 1,128,798 books, bound periodicals, and government documents and pamphlets. Facilities include a 12,000 volume reference collection, 449,390 microfilm, and microform readers. This three-story structure also houses the Archives and Museum (see Academics). The Archives include extensive collections from General Mark W. Clark, General Hugh P. Harris, General W.C. Westmoreland, and many other noted personalities.

DUCKETT HALL, named for the late Major General James W. Duckett, Citadel 1932, president of The Citadel from 1970-1974, provides modern classrooms, laboratories, and offices for the Biology Department. The building is three stories high, centrally air conditioned, with a greenhouse and an animal house on the roof. Architecturally, the building follows the same Spanish-Moorish style as do most of the other buildings on campus.

GRIMSLEY HALL, replaced Alumni Hall in 1991. The building is named in honor of Maj. Gen. James A. Grimsley, Jr., the 16th president of The Citadel and 1942 graduate of The Citadel. The building is situated facing the north side of Summerall Field. Grimsley Hall houses both the Physics and Electrical Engineering departments, Copeland Auditorium, a large theater-auditorium, computer room, and extensive laboratories. Grimsley Hall provides a modern and complete educational environment among the best available in the Southeast.

JENKINS HALL, situated next to Thompson Hall, is named for Brigadier General Micah Jenkins, C.S.A., Citadel 1854, who founded King's Mountain Military School. Jenkins Hall houses the Departments of Aerospace Studies, Military Science, and Naval Science, the offices for Air Force, Army, Marine and Navy ROTC, commandant's office, classrooms and supply rooms. In addition, The Cadet Corps' arms room is in Jenkins Hall.

LeTELLIER HALL was constructed in 1937. It was named for Colonel Louis Shepherd LeTellier, who became acting president of The Citadel after General Charles P. Summerall retired in 1953. Colonel LeTellier held the office of president until replaced by General Mark Clark. In this building are located all the offices, classrooms, and laboratories of the Civil Engineering Department. The latest equipment and one of the largest hydraulic testing machines in the South have been installed in the laboratories. LeTellier Hall also has an excellent engineering library for supplementary study. It was renovated during the 1984-85 school year.

MARK CLARK HALL, a three-story building with 55,000 square feet of floor space, houses a Gift Shop, reception room, barber shop, lounge, game room, TV room, and post office. It also features a billiard room, and a large auditorium. The offices of the Director of Student Activities, and the Student Publications Center are located on the second floor. The third floor of the building has a Catholic Chapel, the office of the Episcopal minister, the Honor Court, and quarters for distinguished guests of The Citadel. Mark Clark Hall was named after past president General Mark W. Clark and was added to The Citadel campus in 1957.

THE MARY BENNETT MURRAY MEMORIAL INFIRMARY, erected with funds donated by a friend of The Citadel, was presented to the college in 1923. It contains modern hospital facilities, including spacious wards and private rooms for the isolation of cadets with contagious diseases. The Citadel maintains a full-time surgeon, who is assisted by a staff of four registered nurses, one of whom is on duty at all times.

THE MESS HALL, opened in 1991 and replaced the dinning facility named for Colonel Ashbury Coward, C.S.A., (The Citadel 1854) is located on the Ashley River behind Padgett-Thomas Barracks. Additional dining rooms plus rehearsal rooms for the Band, Bagpipes and Chorale are located on the second floor.

SUMMERALL CHAPEL was erected during 1936-1937. Cruciform in design, the Chapel is a shrine of religion, of patriotism, and of remembrance. Since it is entirely nonsectarian, Summerall Chapel can belong to no particular denomination. After the completion of the Chapel, each of the classes (up through the Class of 1944) had the opportunity to purchase a window as a lasting memorial to its members. The class windows show the life of Christ in superb stained glass with each window depicting some important event in His life. The great chancel window, located directly behind the altar, was dedicated in 1942 as a memorial to all Citadel men who have given their lives in their country's cause. It portrays exemplars and symbols of courage, sacrifice, religion, truth, duty, loyalty, patriotism, faith, charity, prayer, adoration, praise, and immortality. The facade and transept windows are made up of a number of units or "medallions," provided by families or friends of the men whom they commemorate. Only those who have been Citadel cadets and a few designated faculty and staff are so honored. The design of each of these medallions represents symbolically the person whom it commemorates. In keeping with the democratic spirit of the institution, all medallions are identical in size and in fineness of design. The inscription across the front of Summerall Chapel reading, "Remember Now Thy Creator in the Days of Thy Youth," summarizes the spiritual atmosphere at The Citadel. The office of the Chaplain to the Corps is located in the rear of the chapel.

THOMPSON HALL, named for Hugh S. Thompson, Citadel 1865, twice Governor of South Carolina, Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Treasury, and the Commissioner of the U.S Civil Service, contains The Citadel Counseling Center and visiting team rooms.

THE CITADEL WRITING CENTER is located on the first floor of Capers Hall. The Citadel provides one-on-one instruction to all cadets wishing to strengthen their writing. Qualified cadets and professional tutors offer instruction in all phases of writing from sentence construction and punctuation to essay organization, resumes, and business letters. Tutors offer assistance according to the guidelines of the Honor Code and the English Department Advisory Committee. Tutoring sessions are offered at no charge as part of student services. Fourteen Apple word processors are available for student use in the Writing Center. Workshops are offered at the beginning of each semester.

Software includes electronic dictionaries, vocabulary building exercises, and grammar drills. Cadets are encouraged to become proficient in word processing to make efficient use of their time.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

COLLEGE PARK was leased from the City of Charleston in 1966 and offers The Citadel athletic program excellent baseball facilities, with seating up to 4,000.

DEAS HALL is the physical education building completed in the summer of 1976. It was named for Colonel A. 'Happy' Deas, Jr. (The Citadel 1938). The two-story structure is approximately 88,000 square feet and houses an 8-lane, 25 meter swimming pool, six handball courts, three classrooms, a development library, a physiology laboratory, a multi-purpose room, offices for the Department of Health and Physical Education, showers and a locker for each member of the Corps.

JOHNSON HAGOOD STADIUM is a steel and brick structure with one of the best lighting systems in the South. It was named for Johnson Hagood, (The Citadel 1847) who was chairman of the Board of Visitors from 1877 to 1898. Finished during the 1948-49 academic year, it has a seating capacity of 22,000. The stadium was purchased from the City of Charleston in 1963. All home games are played in this stadium in which the Corps of Cadets has a special seating section.

McALISTER FIELD HOUSE, originally constructed in 1939, contains the offices of the athletic director and his staff. Formerly The Citadel Armory, it was named for Colonel David S. McAlister, (The Citadel 1924) on March 16, 1973. Its three basketball courts provide facilities for The Citadel's basketball program. Having a seating capacity of about 6,200, the field house has been the enthusiasm of the fans. Major renovations, completed during the summer of 1989, make this facility a showcase for Citadel basketball and other campus events.

SEIGNIOUS HALL was dedicated in 1982. It is named for Lt. Gen. George M. Seignious II, Citadel 1942, who served as president of the college 1974-1979. Housed in the modern structure are offices for the football coaching staff, weight-lifting and workout equipment, and conference rooms. There is also sophisticated hydrotherapy equipment, a team meeting room, and other modern athletic devices. Accommodations for the trainer, his assistant, and a doctor are contiguous to the treatment spaces.

VANDIVER HALL was dedicated in 1991. It is named for Col. Thomas C. Vandiver, Citadel Class of 1929 and Vice Chairman Emeritus of the Board of Visitors of The Citadel. Col. Vandiver served on the Board of Visitors for 33 years and received an honorary Doctor of Law degree in 1979, followed by the Palmetto Award in 1986. The building is situated between Seignious Hall and the McAlister Field House. The first floor provides dressing rooms for the soccer, wrestling, track/cross country, and golf teams of The Citadel as well as offices for coaches for the various teams. Also on the first floor are shower facilities, locker rooms for visiting teams, and a conference room. The second floor holds a wrestling practice area, a golf practice area, and a batting area for the baseball team.

CADET LIVING QUARTERS

MURRAY BARRACKS (Number 1) was built in 1926 through the generous gift of almost half its cost by the late Andre B. Murray. Though smaller than Padgett-Thomas Barracks, the arrangement of rooms, corner stairways, and guardroom is similar. This was the first of the barracks to be refurbished in a program begun in 1974. Each room contains drop ceilings with fluorescent lighting, panelled walls, and tiled floors on the first two divisions, with the third and fourth floors being carpeted.

PADGETT-THOMAS BARRACKS (Number 2) is the oldest barracks on the campus, having been completed in 1922. It was named for Colonel J. G. Padgett, a member of the Board of Visitors and a graduate of 1892, and for Colonel John Pulaski Thomas, Citadel 1893, member of the Board of Visitors from 1915 to 1949 and its chairman from 1925-1949. The building, which serves as a model for all the barracks, is designed so that the center is a quadrangle onto which each room opens, and in each of the four corners is a spiral stairway. Adjacent to the east sally port is the guard room. The dominant feature of the barracks is the tower which rises above the fourth story and overlooks the parade ground to the east. In 1977, refurbishing of the barracks was completed with each room being completely modernized.

LAW BARRACKS (Number 3), named for Major General Evander M. Law, C.S.A., Citadel 1865, was completed in 1939. This building was refurbished in 1977.

STEVENS BARRACKS (Number 4) is the same size and design as Law Barracks. Because the rapidly expanding enrollment of The Citadel brought about the necessity for additional quarters, funds were obtained in 1942 for its construction. This barracks was named for Major P. F. Stevens, Citadel 1849, superintendent of The Citadel from 1859-1861. Stevens Barracks was refurbished in 1977.

CADET SERVICE BUILDINGS

The Print Shop is equipped with several presses and a staff which is qualified to carry out the many printing jobs assigned to it, including color work.

THE TAILOR SHOP, located in the Cadet Services Center, offers all the services normally found in a tailor shop. Freshmen are fitted individually for each item of uniform issued them. In addition, alterations and repairs of upperclassmen's uniforms are performed here. The operation hours are from 0800 - 1600 hours, Monday through Friday.

OTHER BUILDINGS

THE THOMAS DRY HOWIE MEMORIAL CARILLON AND TOWER were donated to The Citadel by two alumni, Charles E. Daniel, Citadel 1918, and R. Hugh Daniel, Citadel 1929, in tribute to their friend, Major Thomas Dry Howie, the famed "Major of St. Lo," who was killed in action during World War II. The Citadel carillon is one of the largest Dutch bell installations in the Western Hemisphere. It was cast in the famous Royal Bergen Bellfoundries at Heiligerlee, The Netherlands. The 59 bells, totaling 30,300 pounds in weight, vary in size from 25 pounds to the 4,400 pounds of the great Bourdon, as the lowest brass bell is called. A carillon is a set of bronze bells attuned to intervals of the chromatic scale with a possible range of seven octaves. The bells are hung in a stationary position and are played from a concert keyboard of two manuals. The carillon is equipped with a Westminster chime to strike every quarter-hour. The Bell Tower is 90 feet high, topping the Chapel by 35 feet.

THE COLONEL ROBERT McCORMICK BEACH CLUB is open the year around for the use of Citadel cadets, faculty, and staff. Located on the ocean front of the Isle of Palms, the Beach Club offers ample space for dances, parties, cookouts, and games. Although heavily damaged by Hurricane Hugo in September 1989, the Beach Club is in operation offering limited services. The new Beach Club is under construction and will be operational in November, 1994.

FACULTY OFFICERS' QUARTERS are available on campus for members of the faculty/staff. They include 10 quadruplex homes, the faculty apartment building with its 16 apartments, five duplex apartments, and six housing units for junior faculty officers.

THE CITADEL ALUMNI HOUSE is located off campus, adjacent to the Hagood Avenue Gate. It is open to members of the faculty and staff as well as Citadel alumni. A large reception room is also available for parties and wedding receptions. Alumni Affairs and the Publications Offices are located here.

THE STONEY HOUSE is located across Hagood Avenue from the Alumni House. It houses the Placement Office, interview rooms and the President Emeritus' Office.

THE CITADEL FACULTY HOUSE, located just outside of Lesesne Gate, is available to faculty and staff personnel for lunch and special catered functions.

LESESNE GATE, the main access to The Citadel campus, is named for Thomas Petigru Lesesne, Citadel 1901. Mr. Lesesne was instrumental in the move of the Military College of South Carolina from its original site on Marion Square to the banks of the Ashley River. The familiar limestone and wrought iron gates have become the chief point of arrival and departure from the campus for students, faculty, and visitors alike. At this main entrance to the campus is located a gate house information center for visitors which also contains the office of The Citadel provost marshal.

SUMMERALL GATE, named for General Charles Pelot Summerall, is located behind Mark Clark Hall. It is one of Charleston's famous sword gates, whose companion is found at 31 Legare Street.

THE CITADEL BOATING CENTER, located on the Ashley River, has a fleet which consists of numerous small sailboats and motorboats. All are available to students. Facilities consist of a club house, dockage, marine railway, sail loft, work area for maintenance repair of small boats, and boat storage for a small fee.

CAMPUS MONUMENTS

THE SERAPH MONUMENT, is a memorial consisting of relics from the H.M.S. Seraph, including the periscope and a forward torpedo loading hatch. Both the U.S. and British flags fly from the structure to symbolize that this English submarine was placed under the command of an American Naval officer for a special mission during World War II. It is the only shore installation in the U.S. permitted to fly the Royal Navy Ensign. The H.M.S. Seraph also secretly landed General Mark Clark in North Africa for an intelligence mission. This monument is dedicated to the Seraph

Anglo-American cooperation.

THE TAU BETA PI MONUMENT, OR "BENT", is a bronze replica of the emblem of the National Engineering Honor Society. Its supporting structure is the frustum of a pyramid of blue-gray granite, resembling in color the traditional cadet uniform. Located between the Daniel Library and the Summerall Chapel, the "Bent" commemorates the Tau Beta Pi ideals of distinguished scholarship and exemplary character.

THE BULLDOG MONUMENT is a memorial dedicated to Maj. Sam M. Savas, Jr., Class of 1951, who died in Vietnam in October 1965. He served as tactical officer from 1962 to 1965. As a cadet and while in service to The Citadel he so inspired Citadel men toward dedication to their alma mater that upon his death, cadet members of the Society of American Engineers determined to erect the monument in his honor. The Bulldog Monument is made from brass belt buckles, waist plates and breast plates collected from cadets. In 1966 the monument was unveiled. It is located between McAlister Field House and Murray Barracks.

STAR OF THE WEST MONUMENT is dedicated to the memory of the cadets who fired on the Star of the West in 1861 and to all Citadel men who have died in defense of their country. Inscribed on the monument are the names of those cadets who have won the Star of the West Medal for individual drill competition. The monument was dedicated in 1961 and is located between Bond Hall and the central flagpole.

GENERAL CLARK'S GRAVE—By his choice and with the approval of the Board of Visitors and the General Assembly of South Carolina, Gen. Mark W. Clark was buried on The Citadel campus. He was the first man to serve as President Emeritus of The Citadel and the only person buried on campus. The grave site General Clark selected is between Mark Clark Hall and Summerall Chapel, near the Carillon Tower.

OTHER MONUMENTS

On the parade ground, there are monuments dedicated to each of the four services. They are a Marine Landing craft (LVT-H-6), an Army Sherman Tank (M4A3) and an Army missile (Redstone), an Air Force Jet (F4-C Phantom II), an AH-1 Cobra helicopter, and a Navy anchor from the U.S.S. Coral Sea. A United States Coast Guard bell serves as a monument to Citadel men who have lost their lives upon the sea.

Along the Avenue of Remembrance and on Summerall Field (parade ground), memorial trees honor the memory of Citadel graduates killed in action. A small plaque by each tree gives the name of each graduate so honored.

Memorial plaques on Summerall Chapel list the names of all graduates killed in action in each war from the Civil War through "Desert Storm."

DANIEL LIBRARY,

Acting Director of Library Services

The academic heart of any college is its library program. Daniel Library provides research and course materials of over 1,128,798 books, government documents, bound periodicals or microform publications. The library subscribes to over 1,361 periodicals and newspapers. Interlibrary loan and local courier services provide library users with access to most other published books, journal articles and government documents located elsewhere in Charleston, South Carolina or anywhere in the nation. Six library faculty and twelve support staff offer assistance to patrons during nearly 90 hours a week that the library is open. Recent library automation provides local and remote electronic access to the library's holdings and computerized information services provide access to hundreds of indexing and abstracting databases. The Rare Book Room houses a collection of valuable books, faculty and alumni publications and Citadel publications. One of Daniel Library's strengths is its collection on military history.

Portraits of Citadel presidents and distinguished alumni are located throughout the library to provide inspiration and promote a sense of tradition and history among the Corps of Cadets. Eight large murals depict glorious events from the history of the Corps and its part in the history of our nation. Over 400 study or lounge seats are located throughout the library for use by library users. Every effort is made to make the library an efficient place in which to do research and to study.

ARCHIVES AND MUSEUM

Ms. Jane M. Yates

B.A., College of Charleston

M.L., University of South Carolina

Director, Archives-Museum

The Archives contains manuscript material, photographs and films pertaining to The Citadel. In 1966, General Mark W. Clark donated his personal, military and official papers covering his career in World War II, Austria, the Korean War, and as president of The Citadel. Other notable collections include the papers of Pulitzer Prize winning historian, Bruce Catton; the Civil War letters of General Ellison Capers, Citadel class of 1857; the papers of the South Carolina Poetry Society; and the papers of Vice Admiral Friedrich Ruge, who was Rommel's naval advisor. Authors and scholars from the United States and Europe frequently visit the Archives to research the collections.

The Museum contains displays which trace the history of the college from 1842 to the present and feature the military, academic, social and athletic aspects of cadet life. Citadel rings from 1895 to the present are exhibited. Citadel graduates who lost their lives in World War II, Korea and Vietnam are memorialized in photograph albums which are on display in the Museum.

The Great Chancel Window, located in Summerall Chapel, is a memorial to all Citadel men killed in action.

STUDENT SUPPORT SERVICES

The Citadel Counseling Center: The Citadel Counseling Center provides students with direct, professional, and confidential counseling services. Personal, educational, and career counseling services are available by appointment. Counseling is provided in an informal setting where students may benefit from a relationship with an experienced counselor. The Citadel Counseling Center also administers and interprets intelligence tests, personality inventories, and interest inventories.

Assisting the staff of The Citadel Counseling Center are advanced graduate students doing their internships in clinical counseling. Students may be referred by The Citadel Counseling Center to one of these interns under the joint supervision of the Counselor to the Corps and the Coordinator of Counselor Education.

Appointments may be made directly by the student or by referral from others such as professors, faculty advisors, chaplains, tactical officers, the College Physician, cadet officers, or friends.

Substance Awareness Counseling: The Citadel Substance Awareness Program offers assistance to students in the areas of alcohol and other drug counseling, education, information, and prevention. This is done using a variety of resources including peer educators, faculty and staff educators, the On Campus...Talking About Alcohol (OCTAA) class and individual counseling.

The peer education program consists of a group of volunteer students who serve as resource persons for campus classrooms, organizations and cadet companies. These individuals have been trained in alcohol and drug information, prevention techniques, communication skills, and referral resources. The faculty and staff education programs are composed of faculty and staff members who have been identified by students as persons with whom they feel comfortable talking and confiding in. These faculty and staff members have been trained in the available campus resources and ways to assist students in their personal growth, decision making, and communication skills. The OCTAA program is designed to aid individuals in examining their own choices about alcohol and other drugs. This seven and one-half hour class discusses the beliefs that each one of us has about alcohol and other drugs and provides information on how to reduce the risk for developing a problem.

Assistance is also available to students who have a concern about their own, or a friend's choices about alcohol and other drugs. Peer, faculty, staff or self referrals may be made to The Substance Awareness Program located in Thompson Hall, telephone 953-6344.

Multicultural Student Services, offers assistance to students by meeting their special, personal, social, and cultural needs. The office provides programming throughout the year which supports an appreciation of cultural and racial diversity for the entire student body. The office of Multicultural Student Services is located in Thompson Hall, Room 102. Director: CPT Chris Kennerly, 953-5096 (office).

The Citadel Counseling Center, Thompson Hall, Room 207; Director: COL D. Oliver Bowman, telephone 953-2030; Counselor to the Corps: MAJ Robert J. Sauers, telephone 953-2030 (office), 766-5699 (home); Assistant Counselor to the Corps: CTP Deborah K. Ross, telephone 953-2030 (office), 556-4587 (home).

Advisory Services: Academic Faculty Advisor—Each student is assigned a faculty advisor who provides counsel concerning course selections within particular courses of study. Students are encouraged to visit their advisor throughout the year, and planning sessions are designated each semester during registration and pre-registration.

Tactical Officer—Each cadet company is assigned an active duty officer who is currently assigned to one of the ROTC detachments at The Citadel. This officer provides counsel concerning matters of cadet life-style and regulations. He also provides leadership training while visiting cadet company areas in the barracks and while supervising drill periods.

Company Academic Advisor—Each cadet company is assigned a specially chosen member of the faculty or staff whose responsibility is the academic well-being of all cadets in his company. He works closely with the tactical officer and the cadet chain-of-command to ensure that academic and military requirements are compatible and that cadets take advantage of academic opportunities available to them within the company.

Both the Company Academic Advisor and the Tactical Officer should be primary contacts for parents.

The Writing Center: The Writing Center provides free writing services to students, faculty, and staff. Students may drop in or call for appointment. Services include the following:

Writing Tutorials—Most of the Center's activity involves one-on-one tutoring in accordance with English Department guidelines. Professional and peer tutors are also available to help students with resumés, job search correspondence, and cover letters.

Study Skills/Reading Tutorials: Private and group tutorials are available in areas such as reading comprehension, speed reading, note-taking, organization, motivation and critical thinking.

Workshops: Workshops in writing and study skills are scheduled throughout the year. Topics include "Research Papers," "Memory and Retention," "Punctuation," "Individual Learning Styles," and "Test-Taking Skills."

Word Processors: Apple computers, laser and color printers, and a scanner are available for independent or supervised use. Instructional software in study skills, writing, speed reading, and word processing are also available.

Interviews are arranged with visiting representatives from business and industry for prospective graduates. Numerous placement seminars are held throughout the year to help students prepare for the job-search process. The Career Services Center Library offers a variety of publications and information about companies, as well as material concerning job-search techniques.

The Career Services Center also maintains a listing of The Citadel Alumni Career Network, a rich information source. These alumni have volunteered to be available to students who are seeking career information, and they can be the beginning of a valuable career network.

Career Services Center, Stoney House, across the street from the Alumni House; Director: LTC Henry A. Kennedy, Jr.; Assistant Director: CPT Ben D. Ledbetter; telephone 953-1617.

Pre-professional Advisory Services: The Citadel provides counseling and guidance to all students who have an interest in attending law or medical school after graduation. A student interested in a law career should seek advice early in his college career from the Pre-law Advisor. Students interested in medicine and related fields should seek early advice from the Pre-medical Advisor.

Through the Director of Religious Activities, clergy are available to establish an ongoing pastoral relationship with students and to help students deal with life's complexities in the context of religious values.

A pre-marriage seminar is available for seniors and their fiancées. This seminar uses a team of professionals to prepare couples for the transition to and responsibilities of marriage. Registration for this seminar is in the Chaplain's Office, Summerall Chapel.

SPORTS CLUBS

One function of the sports club program is to provide limited extramural competition in activities which are not governed by the Southern Conference. Current offerings in this program include the following:

Boxing - The boxing club provides training in the skills of boxing and offers competition with similar clubs from colleges throughout the area. Members train with heavy bags, speed bags and other facilities available for sport clubs. Proficient members of the boxing team go to regional and national tournaments.

Cycling - Purpose of the cycling club is to provide organized training and competition for those interested in the sport. The club hosts several time-trials and road races open to area riders throughout the year.

The club also hosts a triathlon in February every year to support the team. In recent years the club has moved to include area triathalons in its schedule to provide more competitive events available to members and to try to include more cadets.

Crew - The crew team is a member of the United States Rowing Association which competes during the fall and spring semester. Each year The Citadel faces teams such as Purdue, Duke and UNC.

Exhibition Drill Team - The exhibition drill team is a club composed of students from all classes that compete with other college drill teams in close order drill. The team performs close order drill with rifle manual combined.

Fencing - The fencing club has concentrated on developing in each member fundamental skills in the art of foil fencing, progressing through experience to advanced skills. The long range goal is to train a complete three weapon team composed of three squads of members best skilled to foil, epee, and saber fencing. This team will then be ready to compete intercollegiately in NCAA tournaments.

Lacrosse - Lacrosse, known as the "fastest game on foot," is increasing in popularity at The Citadel. The lacrosse team plays such opponents as the University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina State, VMI, VPI, and Clemson. Also, The Citadel has become one of the top teams in the South.

Judo - The judo club provides an opportunity for instruction and competition in this form of martial art. During the year, members of the judo club compete in various tournaments throughout the South.

Tae Kwon Do - The tae kwon do club provides instruction and competition. The club is open to beginners, and provides an excellent opportunity for skill level advancement. Workouts are held daily.

Skydiving - This skydiving club trains and competes through a local commercial organization which has national certification with respect to safety regulations and procedures. The club competes on a regular basis with similar clubs within the state and throughout the Southeast.

Rugby - The rugby club is a very successful club sport at The Citadel. Rugby, known as one of the more rugged sports and the "fastest growing sport in the South," gives cadets a chance to compete with teams from USC, Clemson, Davidson, and Wofford, as well as many other non-collegiate clubs in the South. Usually, first semester is classified as a conditioning period, although some games are played. Second semester offers a full schedule of games. The club is open to inexperienced as well as experienced cadets and faculty.

Pistol - This club provides pistol and on-line competition against other colleges, military units and private clubs in the .22 caliber rimfire and .177 caliber pneumatic pistol events. The team is consistently ranked as one of the best in the nation.

Sailing - As a member of the S.I.S.A., this club provides an opportunity for competition and advanced instruction.

Volleyball - Volleyball is a new club sport on campus. It provides a place for instruction and practice and is growing in popularity very quickly. The two-man and four-man teams participated in the 1994 nationals at Parde Island, Texas.

Scuba - The scuba club provides members the opportunity to obtain national certification in scuba diving. Certified divers may obtain advanced instruction and certification. All eligible members can participate in dive trips designed for fun and experience.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE SPORTS

Football - Citadel football is a unified team effort in which both the players and cadet spectators give an all-out performance. Experienced and competent coaches provide the coaching expertise while the Corps provides plenty of the necessary spirit. The Corps of Cadets, known as the "twelfth man," supports the team in various ways by attending pep rallies, making banners, and cheering at the games. By putting everything together, The Citadel always provides strong conference contenders. Coach: Charles P. Taaffe.

Basketball - The renovated McAlister Field House is the site of the Bulldog's home contests. Seating capacity has been increased to 6,200. The support of the Corps of Cadets makes it a difficult place for visiting teams to play and the Bulldogs can always be counted on to provide an exciting game. In addition to playing in the Southern Conference, the team also plays a demanding non-conference schedule, including traditional rivals, North Carolina, N.C. State, Clemson, Duke and South Carolina. Head Coach: Pat Dennis.

Tennis - The Donald C. Bunch Tennis Courts are the home of The Citadel's fine tennis team and consist of ten Laykold tennis courts plus a club house. The Citadel has the distinction of being one of the few colleges in the Southeast to have such admirable facilities.

Each spring The Citadel netters face opposition from Southern Conference schools and sectional powers such as Harvard, Rollins, and the University of South Carolina. Highlighting the season is the Southern Conference tennis tournament in which The Citadel has always been a strong contender. Tennis is important at The Citadel and is a rapidly rising sport in the competitive field as well as a recreational activity. Coach: Mike Groshon.

Baseball - The Citadel baseball program was greatly aided by the leasing of College Park, where the Bulldogs play night and day games against some of the most formidable foes in the South. The Citadel baseball team has defeated nationally ranked teams and always provides an exciting and daring style of baseball. Baseball at The Citadel is widely supported by the Corps of Cadets. The baseball season begins in early February and ends at the end of April. The 1994 team was the Southern Conference Champion and earned an invitation to the NCAA tournament. Coach: Fred Jordan.

Track - Each season, the team competes in such outstanding track and field meets as the Southern Conference indoor and outdoor meets, the South Carolina state meet, and the Florida Relays. Besides these meets, the team faces opposition in the form of Eastern Conference and Atlantic Coast Conference teams. During the football season the cheerleaders organize Corps pep rallies preceding home games. Advisor: Lee Glaze.

THE COLLEGE COLORS—BLUE AND WHITE

Unlike most Citadel customs and traditions, which have developed over a long period of time, the college colors were chosen in the interest of expediency. In the spring of 1899, Cadet Captain John W. Moore, manager of the baseball team, secured permission to take the team on its first road trip. Prior to that time all athletic contests had been staged locally. As other colleges had colors which were displayed in athletic contests, Cadet Moore and two or three friends decided that blue and white made an appropriate combination; they hastily had pennants made in these colors to take along.

Although born out of necessity, the colors were readily accepted by the Corps and have endured to this day.

CITADEL SONGS AND CHEERS

The Fighting Light Brigade

We're here cheering loudly, as the Briadiers parade.
Bucks, we claim you proudly as THE FIGHTING
LIGHT BRIGADE!

March on, ye valiant warriors; your courage shall not fade;

As we yell, we yell like hell for you, THE FIGHTING
LIGHT BRIGADE!

Goodbye, Carolina!

(Tune: "The Fighting Light Brigade")

Goodbye, Carolina!

You'll now be driven back

As the Blue and White goes crashing through
The Garnet and the Black.

With a touchdown through center

And one around the end,

Goodbye, Carolina,

'Til we meet you

Again!

The Citadel Ramble

The Citadel has a bulldog

With short and grizzly hair.

Carolina has a gamecock—

Now wouldn't they make a pair?

And when they get together

There's bound to be a scrap.
Just watch that Citadel Bulldog
Wipe that gamecock off the map!

CHORUS

Oh! we ramble, we ramble.
All around the ground.
In and out the town,
Oh! we ramble, we ramble,
We ramble till the Bulldogs mow 'em down.

The Citadel Forever

While now we pass in review, marching along,
We praise thee, O Citadel, in our lusty song,
As bearing the colors proud, we pledge anew,
To thee, our Alma Mater dear,
Allegiance proud and true.

With brave, loyal hearts aflame, we march away,
To train for the victories that we must win some day;
When passing in life's review. Mem'ries of thee,
O Citadel, shall our inspiration be.

ACTIVITIES

Although some of these organizations are reserved for upperclassmen, others for those with high grade-point ratios, and others for those with specific majors, there are a multitude of activities that the new cadet may participate in with new ones opening to him each passing year. There is ample opportunity to diversify and enrich each cadet's experience at The Citadel.

The award consists of a blue streamer that is attached to the company guidon for the following year. Though this is not an individual award, all companies within the Corps strive to win it. It signifies industrious effort in the scholastic field and is an honor of which the winning company should feel justly proud.

INFORMATION

THE FOURTH CLASS SYSTEM

The purpose of the fourth class system at The Citadel is to provide a base upon which a fourth classman may develop those qualities essential to a good leader. It is dedicated to the principle that no one is fit to command that has not learned to obey. The system emphasizes the equalitarian single gender nature of the cadet system and requires mental preparedness, physical condition, and self discipline and is conducted with impartiality.

Success in any career demands qualities such as: prompt obedience, loyalty, self control, accuracy, reliability, courtesy, and confidence. The system consists of traditions that function to develop such qualities, and continue the long-standing traditions of the South Carolina Corps of Cadets.

ADVICE TO THE INCOMING FOURTH CLASS

The Guidon is published every year as a source of information for incoming freshmen. As a member of the Class of 1998, you are highly encouraged to familiarize yourself with all of the information enclosed in The Guidon. Listed below are some items that you will be required to learn in the first few weeks at The Citadel.

Since these weeks will be filled with activities, it is necessary to learn as much of this information as possible before you report. Once you receive the Blue Book see Annex B para 5a, 5b and 5b(7).

1. The Cadet Prayer
2. The Alma Mater
3. The Honor System
4. Cadet Rank and Insignia
5. Cadet TO&E (chain of command)
6. The history of The Citadel and mission of college
7. Names, locations, and significance of campus buildings
8. The three General Guard Orders
9. Insignia of Rank of Armed Forces
10. Military Courtesy
11. Knob Knowledge (pp. 155-167)

CLOTHING AND BEDDING

The Director of Admissions sends each Fourth Classman a list of clothing, bedding and other articles which you must bring with you. The Citadel Laundry will mark clothing for you after your arrival.

A bedspread and a blanket will be issued to you. Cadets are not allowed to use fitted sheets. You will be taught how to make "hospital corners" with your straight sheets .

You are advised to break in your low quarters by wearing them for at least two weeks prior to arrival. Breaking in your shoes will prevent painful blisters during the cadre training period. Begin to shine your shoes before you leave home. This will provide a good base of wax for shining to Citadel standards.

A GUIDE TO CONDUCT AND WELL-BEING FOR THE FOURTH CLASS

The following is a practical guide for the general conduct and well-being of incoming freshmen. You should read it thoroughly, for it contains the keys of success as a freshman. The fourth class system requires constant effort to conform to Citadel traditions and standards. To assure your success as a Citadel cadet, keep the following advice in mind from the moment you enter campus. This will be your way of life. Upon taking the cadet oath on the day of your arrival, you are now a cadet recruit.

1. You are no longer a civilian. Certain answers such as “yeah” and “ok” will no longer be part of your vocabulary. The three “knob answers” are: “Sir, yes sir”, “Sir, no sir”, and “Sir, no excuse sir.” In all communication, you must refer to an upperclassman as “Mister...”

2. When you receive an order, carry it out to the best of your ability. Never argue or offer suggestions which you think might be better. This is not in your best interest.

3. Maintain proper posture and take pride in your appearance and bearing. If you should forget to stand erect, you will soon be reminded. Remember, you not only represent yourself, but also your company and the Corps.

4. The life of a cadet is far removed from your former way of living. A "lone wolf" will find it impossible to survive within the Corps. Your classmates are your only companions, since fraternization with upperclassmen is prohibited. Start off right by getting acquainted with your classmates. However, never be afraid to ask an upperclassman a question; request permission first and you will find him ready and willing to assist you at any time. When you are allowed to leave campus, it is best to go in a group so that no one will feel left out. These classmates are your sole source of support and aid at this time. They will be your friends for life.

5. A cadet holds the highest esteem for the uniform he wears. For many years it has commanded recognition and respect. Never injure that respect by acting in a manner that will reflect discredit upon you or The Citadel. Such actions would constitute a serious infraction of regulations, and would dishonor the traditions of The Citadel.

The Regulations of The Citadel are contained in the Blue Book which will be issued to every cadet upon arrival. You are encouraged to read the Blue Book so that you are aware of the rules that each cadet must follow and you will be tested on The Blue Book shortly after your arrival.

PHYSICAL CONDITION

As an incoming fourth class cadet you are strongly advised to be in the best physical condition possible. Because of the nature of a fourth classman's first weeks at The Citadel, it is important that you attain at least the minimum standards set by the administration. The fourth class year consists of a demanding system, and those cadets who are "out of shape" will find it more difficult to adapt than those who are in good physical condition. The minimum you are required to accomplish upon your arrival is 42 pushups, 52 sit-ups, and a 2 mile run in approximately 15 minutes and 54 seconds..

FOURTH CLASS WEEK

In accordance to custom, cadets of the fourth class report to duty one week before the school term opens. Cadets from the upper three classes compose a training cadre to give the fourth classmen their preliminary military training. During this week the new class takes the cadet oath, becoming cadet recruits.

During cadre week cadets are issued their uniforms and learn the fundamentals of formation marching and rifle manual. Fourth classmen also attend various meetings about academics, honor, Corps operations, and cadet traditions.

After this week of training is over the entire Corps returns and the fall term of classes begins. This may seem to be the longest week of your lives, but do not be discouraged. You will soon become accustomed to cadet life and all of your tasks will become second nature. Being successful during your knob year will give you a feeling of accomplishment unlike any other.

INFORMATION

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A GENTLEMAN? It is to be honest, to be gentle, to be generous, to be brave, to be wise; and possessing all these qualities, to exercise them in the most graceful outward manner.

WHAT IS HONOR? Sir, honor is the most cherished principle of the cadet's life.

WHAT IS DUTY? Sir, duty is the sublimest word in the English language. (General Robert E. Lee.)

WHAT DO 4th CLASSMEN OUT RANK? Sir, the President's cat, the Commandant's dog, and all the captains at VMI, Sir!

WHERE IS THE FOOD? It's on the road, Sir!
WHAT ROAD? Sir, the road to the haven of culinary atrocities!* (*—The correct answer to an upperclassman's question when a particular item of food has gone back to the kitchen for refill.)

HOW IS THE COW? Sir, she walks, she talks, she's full of chalk, the lacteal fluid extracted from the female of the bovine species, is highly prolific to the * degree, sir! (* an estimate of the number of glasses of milk remaining in the milk carton.)

WHY DO 4th CLASSMEN COME TO THE MESS HALL? Sir, three times a day and even more often, the highly esteemed upperclassmen of this, our beloved institution, discover that their gastric juices are running wild and their large intestines are craving victuals. It is altogether fitting and proper, as well as obvious and natural, that it behooves the lowly plebe to come to the mess hall in order to insure that the upperclassmen are properly served, Sir!

WHAT TIME IS IT? Sir, I am deeply embarrassed and greatly humiliated that due to unforeseen circumstances over which I have no control, the inner workings and hidden mechanisms of my chronometer are in such in accord with the great sidereal movement by which time is commonly reckoned that I cannot with any degree of accuracy state the exact time, Sir. But without fear of being very far off, I will state that it is _____ minutes, _____ seconds and _____ ticks after the _____ hour, Sir!

WHAT IS THE DEFINITION OF LEATHER? Sir, if the fresh skin of an animal, cleaned and divested of all hair, fat, and other extraneous matter, be submerged in a dilute solution of tannic acid, a chemical combination ensues; the gelatinous tissue of the skin is converted into a nonputrescible substance impervious to and insoluble in water. This, Sir, is leather.

WHAT IS THE CITADEL? The Citadel is an institution of higher learning, to mold our minds, morals, and bodies so that we may be fit officers and better civilians of our country. More than that, however, it is a fortress of duty, a sentinel of responsibility, a bastion of antiquity, a towering bulwark of rigid discipline, instilling within us high ideals, honor, uprightness, loyalty, patriotism, obedience, initiative, leadership, professional knowledge, and pride in achievement.

FLAGS

Garrison Flag, 38 feet X 20 feet - used for holidays and specified important occasions.

Post Flag, 19 feet X 10 feet - for general use.

Storm Flag, 9 feet X 5 feet - used for stormy or windy weather.

The regiment carries three flags known respectively as the national, state, and regimental colors or standards.

Colors are carried by the dismounted regiment as infantry, and are 5 feet 6 inches X 4 feet 4 inches on the pikes.

GENERAL GUARD ORDERS

All Citadel cadets are required to memorize, understand and comply with the following general orders:

1. I will guard everything within the limits of my post and quit my post only when properly relieved.

2. I will obey my special orders and perform all my duties in a military manner.

3. I will report violations of my special orders, emergencies, and anything not covered in my instructions to the commandant or the relief.

Special Orders: Special orders cover specific duties of each member of the guard. See guard orders.

When a member of the guard is asked by an inspecting officer, "What are your orders?", the proper answer is : "Sir, My orders are of the two classes: general and special. My general orders are : number one: I will guard everything within the limits of my post and quit my post when properly relieved. Number two: ...", and he continues to recite his general orders until he is stopped by the officer or until he has recited all of his general orders.

MILITARY INFORMATION

Since The Citadel is a military college, each incoming fourth classman should familiarize himself with the following basic military data.

PERSONAL HONORS AND SALUTES

The salute to the Union, consisting of one round for each state, is fired on July 4 at every post provided with suitable artillery. The national salute and the salute to a national flag are twenty-one-gun salutes.

Music is considered an inseparable part of a gun salute and follows the ruffles and flourishes without pause. The National Flag will not be dipped by way of salute or compliment. The Regimental color or standard will dip when the rank of the reviewing officer is that of a Brigadier General or equivalent, or above. During the playing of the ruffles and flourishes and other music of the salute, all persons will stand at attention and salute, if in uniform.

Personal honors and salutes are as follows:

- Former President/ 21/March
- Chief Magistrate or sovereign of a foreign country/ 21/His National Anthem

THE CORPS OF CADETS

ORGANIZATION OF THE CORPS OF CADETS

The South Carolina Corps of Cadets constitutes a regiment. It is commanded by a cadet colonel and his staff with the direct supervision and advice of the Commandant and the tactical officers. Under the cadet colonel's control are the Regimental Band, and the four battalion commanders and their staffs, each one of whom is the commander of one of the four barracks in which the cadets are billeted. In each battalion are four companies, each commanded by a cadet captain. The company is the basic administrative unit to which the new cadet will find himself assigned immediately upon arrival at the college. Each company is divided into three platoons, each one under the supervision of a cadet second lieutenant. The platoons are further subdivided into three squads headed by a cadet sergeant and the squads are the smallest units within the Corps.

It behooves each incoming cadet to become thoroughly familiar with the above organization of the

APPOINTMENT OF CADET OFFICERS AND NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICERS

Cadet officers and noncommissioned officers are appointed by the Commandant of Cadets with the approval of the President.

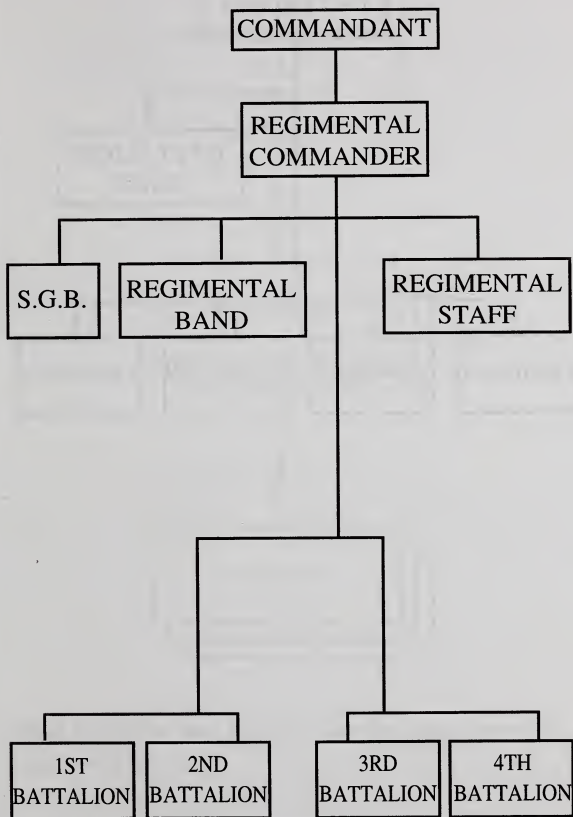

To be selected to receive cadet rank at The Citadel is both an honor and a privilege. Only the most deserving cadets are selected to hold rank. The cadets who are unworthy of holding or obtaining rank will be denied the privilege of having it. Any cadet that is given the privilege of holding rank, and then abuses or disgraces that privilege, will lose that privilege.

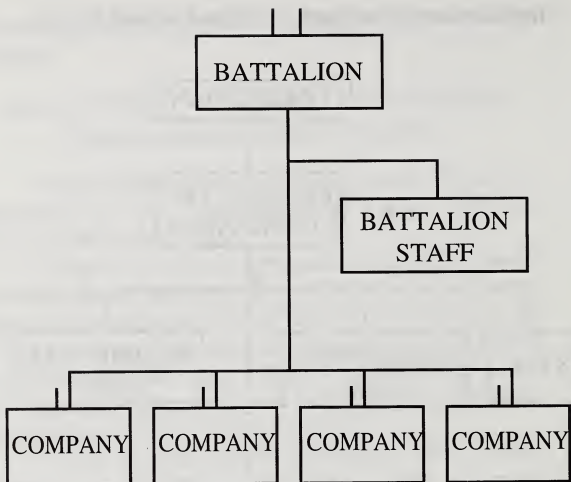

Under the rank system employed at The Citadel, corporals are selected from the third class, sergeants (buck, staff, first, master, and sergeant-major) are selected from the second class, and the commissioned officers (second lieutenant, first lieutenant, captain, major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel) are chosen from the first class.

Once each year the cadets in each company are rated by their peers, commanding officers and company tacs, and placed in their respective companies. Additionally, fourth classmen rank order all second and third class cadets on the order of merit list (OML).

If a third class cadet has a 2.0 GPA or higher and has a clean disciplinary record, he will hold corporal rank first or second semester.

PRAYER OF THE CITADEL

Give me a boy, Oh God, who is willing to learn the true value of honor, the necessity of perseverance and loyalty, and the meaningfulness of devotion to God and country. And I shall take this boy as does a blacksmith take a crude piece of metal, and place him over a forge whose liberating flame of education is fired by the bellows of strict military discipline. Into this ingot of a man I shall temper self-respect and self-discipline, fear of God and respect for mankind, appreciation of freedom and awareness of what sacrifices must be made to preserve freedom, and above all an insatiable desire for truth and honesty. And when all these things I have done, I shall brand my finished work with a ring of gold to let all of humanity know that I have given back to the world . . . a Citadel Man.
